Farmers: "A Long Pull, A Strong Pull, All Pull Together."

The Farmer Is the Most Powerful Man In America.

HE IS THE FOUNTAIN-HEAD OF THE NATION.

For the Past Quarter of a Century He Has Been Oppressed, But a Glorious Day is Dawning and the Shackles Will be Torn Asunder.

Pull for the pool!

A long pull, a strong pull, all pull together!

Hey! Ho!

NOW is the time for the farmers of Washington county to become active if they would assist in bettering the condition of every farmer in the land. Don't lag behind. Get into this great organization—a movement destined to not only place the affairs of the farmer upon a sound basis and bring to him prosperity, but one that will help all of us over the rough furrows which are made in our pathways by "Hard Times." Not only the future welfare of the farmer depends upon the success of this movement, but the future welfare of every merchant, mechanic and day laborer depends upon its success. Every merchant in Springfield—every merchant in the United States—big, little, old or young, who refuses, or neglects, to place his shoulder to the wheel and push, contributes not alone to the destruction of the farmer, but he hinders the nail which the trusts of America have already driven half way into his own "business coffin." Merchants are not as active in this matter as they should be; they seem not to realize the importance of the movement. Merchants cannot exist without the farmer, no more than can a river exist without water. Destroy the mountain-head of the river and you will soon have no running water. Destroy the farmer by curtailing his profits below the cost of production and the business houses of every town and city in the nation will soon close their doors. Mr. Bryan in his famous "Chicago Speech" said: "Destroy the farms of this country and grass will grow in the streets of every city in the nation, but destroy the cities and leave the farms, and the cities will spring up again as if by magic."

NO TOWN CAN BE PROSPEROUS UNLESS THE FARMERS AROUND IT ARE PROSPEROUS!

Therefore, it behooves every merchant in Springfield to lend his influence to this movement. Every business man in Springfield and in Washington county should become a member of the American Society of Equity—lawyers, doctors, merchants, mechanics—all; preachers, too, should identify themselves with the organization. They are mistaken if they think this movement is not for their good as well as for the good of the farmer, and they are also mistaken if they think this organization is a fake. IT IS GOING TO BE THE BIGGEST

On next Monday, County Court day, the A. S. of E. Locals of Washington County will meet in the court house at Springfield for the purpose of discussing the pool of 1907. Hon. Campbell Cantrell, of Georgetown was expected on that day, but he has written Mr. W. D. Claybrooke that it will be impossible for him to be here. However, the meeting will be addressed by Judge I. H. Thurman and Hon. W. C. McChord.

We are informed that over 1,000 acres of the 1907 crop have already been pooled, and that farmers, almost without an exception, are heartily interested and are working for the pool. At this stage it looks like the entire burley crop of Washington county will be pooled.

In this great struggle to put the burley tobacco grower on "Easy Street"—or perhaps we had better say, "to remove him from Poverty Row," the column of The Sun will be open each week for well-timed articles. It matters not to us whether you are a friend or an enemy of The Sun if you have anything to say which will be of interest and benefit to the farmer in this struggle for supremacy over those things which have for years made him the burden-bearer of the world—a hewer of wood, and a meaningless figure in the affairs of the world, send it in and we will gladly print it.

The hour for the dawning of a new day for the American farmer is at hand, and the dawn will come in on a wave of mellow light. Children yet unborn will shout the praises of those sturdy fellows who, imbued with the spirit of Right, became as a "Mighty Tidal Wave" and tore asunder the shackles that have held the farmer in semi-slavery for a quarter of a century.

THING IN AMERICA! It will prove a God-send to the farming and business interests of the country.

Past experience has demonstrated to us that we cannot get relief from the oppression of the trusts through legislative channels, therefore it is up to the farmer—the nation's fountain-head—that source from whence the great commercial rivers are fed, to be up and doing.

The farmer is in charge of the supplies which keep activity up in this country. He is the heart of the nation. He throws through the arteries of the business world a great, forceful stream of "life-giving properties." If he shuts off this supply for one month famine will result and financial ruin and business stagnation will be seen in every quarter of the world. Business houses in every city in the nation will close their doors. The walls of the starving will be heard, and a great nation will be prostrated. CHAOS AND DISORDER and DISPAIR will be seen in the four corners of the earth. But God knows the farmer doesn't want to do this. He is a good man to even think of scattering wreckage throughout the world. But upon the other hand the farmer

Get In the Band Wag-on, Pull For the Pool of '07.

HOUR FOR THE DAWNING OF A HAPPY DAY.

Every Business Man in Springfield and Washington County Should Become a Member of this Organization.—When the Farmer Is Prosperous All Are Prosperous.

does not propose to permit these gigantic and merciless combinations of wealth to crush him and his to the earth. The farmer proposes to place his business affairs upon an equitable basis. He is going to live and let live. That's the motive of this organization—to live and let live. It is not for the purpose of crushing or destroying anything or anybody. It stands for law and order, and condemns crime of every nature.

The farmer has a right to set a price upon his products. He knows what it is worth to raise tobacco and corn and wheat. He doesn't want an exorbitant price. He merely wants to earn a comfortable sustenance for himself and family; he wants to educate his children and equip them for life's struggles, and "lay up" a little for "those rainy days." And when the Master summons him from these walks here below, he wants to "wrap the drapery of his couch about him," and go away knowing that his family will not be left to the "tender mercies" of charity.

But he cannot accomplish these things—even these little things—unless emphatically says I WILL!

Farmers must band themselves together—mutually and brotherly. They must stand by one another through thick and thin, through trials and adversities. They must demand a fair price for everything they raise from a runt pig to an 1800-pound steer. There was a time when such strenuous methods were unnecessary, but that time has passed. There is now absolutely no competition in the markets of the country. Prices are made from "central" offices of the trusts, and if you want to "accept" you may, if not you can go to the devil for all they care. Therefore, it is necessary that farmers band themselves together and "DEMAND."

Pull for the Pool! Sign up the 1907 crop. Washington county has led in everything else, let it lead in the pooling of this crop. Every man who refuses to pool becomes a link in the chain with which the farmers of the nation are being shackled. He stands in the way of a movement which, when completed in detail, will make farming in this country profitable, and when farming is made profitable ours will be a land of plenty.

Let the merchants help!

Let the professional men help!

Let the women help!

Tell the boys and the girls to pull for the pool!

A strong pull, a long pull, all pull together.

DEATH OF

JNO. E. SMITH

One of the County's Best Known Citizens.

drop and twenty-one great grand-children.

The deceased at one time was an ex-tensional land owner in this county, owning 500 or 600 acres of good land, but this he divided among his children when he became incapacitated for business.

Mr. Smith was a liberal and kind-hearted man; he was a good neighbor and a kind and considerate father.

Funeral services were held at St Rose

Monday, interment occurring at that place.

Newspapers Indicted.

Lebanon Enterprise: The grand jury at its present session returned indictments against the Cincinnati Enquirer, the Louisville Herald, Louisville Times and Evening Post for publishing the proceedings of the Tommie March trial, now before a jury in New York. The Court Journal was not indicted, owing, it is said, to its conservativeness in handling this famous case. It is alleged that the accounts of the trial given in the papers indicted were offensive and indecent, and could not have been published and circulated. It is the first time in the history of the country that indictments of the kind have ever been returned.

Lebanon Enterprise: Attorney Henry S. McElroy has been notified by the United States Court of Claims that a decision has been rendered in favor of the First Presbyterian church of this city in which the church is awarded the sum of $1080 on its claim for the use of the building, and the damage is sustained during the civil war. The claim was for $6000, but rather than resubmit the matter, with its attendant delay, the church has decided to accept the $1080. The cost of collection will be about $200, leaving the amount realized by the church something like $1100.

DWELLINGS

BURNED

One at Litsey, the Other at Wil-

lisburg.—An Alarm of Fire

In Springfield Saturday.

The dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. S. C.

VanArdale, in the Litsey neighborhood, was destroyed by fire last Thurday morning. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective flue.

The flames when first discovered were under considerable headway and all efforts to check the fire proved futile.

The building was insurance amounting to $800, but this does not cover half of the loss. The dwelling was a large two-story building and was valued at $1,800. The contents were saved.

The residence of Mrs. C. R. Cheatham, near Willisburg, was burned

Tuesday, Feb. 12, the fire having caught on the kitchen roof. No one was on the place at the time but the women folk, and nearly all the contents of the house were destroyed, among them a new piano. Mrs. Cheatham was ill, and was confined to her bed at the time. By the time the firemen arrived the building was wrapped in flames, so it was impossible to check the flames. The house was partly covered by insurance, but the contents were not insured and the loss was a total one.

Rather Unusual.

Marion Falcon. Last Friday morning to the surprise of Mr. and Mrs. G.

T. Estelen they saw a hen coming to wards the house over the snow with six small chickens. Upon investigation

they found a nest in the yard under a wild honeysuckle bush where the hen had hatched thirteen chickens from fifteen eggs. Five died before they got out of the shells, two froze to death

after leaving the nest and six still survive. The wonder is how these eggs were preserved during the cold weather

before the hen began setting.

DIED SUDDENLY

IN CALIFORNIA

Washington County Citizens Dies

In California, Where He

Had Gone In Search

of Health.

Mrs. C. L. Brady received a letter last Saturday announcing the death of her brother, Mr. Scott Durham, at Patton, Cal. Mr. Durham left Washington county about three years ago and located in California hoping to regain his health. The news of his death came as a great shock to his family and friends, as a recent letter to Mrs.

Brady (received on the day of his death) announced that he was much improved in health, and that he was delighted with the climate in California.

Immediately upon receipt of the letter Mrs. Brady wired that her body was sent to Springfield, and she was expecting its arrival the latter part of the week. At the time of the telegram was sent money was also telegraphed to the hospital in which he died to pay the express charges.

On yesterday Mrs. Brady received another telegram asking for money to defray the express charges, and from this it would seem that some one is guilty of negligence of a very serious nature. It requires five days to make the trip from California to this place,

for their places.

and the body is not now looked for until the first of next week.

The deceased was twenty-seven years of age, and was well-known in this county, where he had many warm friends.

The Sun, together with friends, extends sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Five Candidates.

Louisville Times: Only five candidates are now being seriously mentioned for the Republican nomination for Governor. John W. Yerkes, W. O.
Bradley, Judge E. C. O'Rear and Geo-Welch have eliminated themselves by statements that they would not be candidates.

Those who are chiefly mentioned since the date for the Republican convention was fixed are: Judge John Lewis, E.
T. Franks' James Breathitt, Judge W.
H. Holt and A. E. Wilson. Mr. Will-son's friends are incensed over the statement that he might become a candidate for Attorney General or any of the less important offices.

The friends of Judge James Breathitt are actively engaged in organizing the western part of the State for him.
Judge Lewis is not a candidate for the nomination, but would accept it if tendered him and would be suitable to the rank and file of the party.

Thomas L. Walker, who resigned as secretary of the Republican Committee, is closing up his books and preparing to move back to Lexington where he will assume the postmastership March 1.
A. S. Bennett moved into the secretary's office this morning.

Dr. Ben L. Bruner, Chief Deputy United States Marshal, appears to have a clear field in his race for Secretary of State. Candidates for other State offices will probably have a scramble
for their places.

THE SPARROW AND THE OWL.

THE SPARROW.

I am a little under the weather this week. Indigestion is my trouble. I ate a small piece of a biscuit made by a young lady who had spent most of her time sleeping and reading novels instead of learning how to cook.

I was out to see Black & Johnson last Friday evening, and had quite a little chat with Mr. Johnson. He told me his ad. In the Sun paid them well. Mr. Johnson doesn't like English "Sparrows" in the least. He says they are rogues—worse than crows. However, he says he has seen a few good ones, and I think he meant that it was among the good ones. I realize that there is much prejudice against English Sparrows in this country, brought about by the Revolutionary war.

A lady in Springfield threw a dish full of dirty water on me one morning this week. She is the same woman that threatened to paste the old man with the rolling pin last Thursday morning. If she ever throws any more water on me I'll have her indicted.

It's just as easy to be happy as it is to be unhappy! Of course, "sorrow" sometimes comes into a fellow's life and stings his heart, and he can't keep down that thumping in his breast and that choking in his throat, but there are many people unhappy just because they are "peculiarly constituted." They see clouds in the sunshine and feel stings where the ha-ha's ought to be. You never see an unhappy English Sparrow unless he eats bad bread or poisonous worms, and then as soon as he throws up he's as happy as a June bug.

I like a June bug because he's always humming—seems happy. Too many people are like flea-infested dogs—growl at everything and everybody. I once heard a peg-leg blind man say: "I'm contented." "I don't see how you can be contented in your great affliction," said a fellow who had heard him make the remark. "Well," said the peg-leg blind man, "you see I ain't afflicted with a mean woman. My wife is so good and sings so sweetly that she keeps my soul crowded with music and good cheer."

I was out to see Rev. Purdon a few days ago; he's a good friend of mine. Of course I don't go to his church (I'm a member of the big church) but Rev. Williams of the Baptist church recently told me that he considered Mr. Purdon one of the best preachers in the country.

I heard a fellow complaining a few days ago over the "prospects for a drouth" next summer. He's a little early, but I admire him for this—he's ahead of the other fellows. This is about the only time this fellow ever goes ahead of anybody. Heretofore he has always been behind. I believe though he did catch the measles once before anybody else in his neighborhood.

I am mighty glad M. H. Jones confines his business to "fowls" of a larger type. If he should take a notion to buy English Sparrows, there wouldn't be a baker's dozen left in Washington, except by sprouting women, who would feed her chickens a few days ago, say "Jones" and a few old roosters dropped dead and every hen on the place had hysterics. People have quit "sheaving" chickens. They say "Jones" at 'em, and they pull for high timber.

A story I heard told at Texas last Saturday night will be printed in The Sun during the month of March. It's sensational!

I am always ready to defend the night-time. People ought not to be prejudiced against it, for the night-time is only the day-time in a dress of black. "Tis true that sneak thieves take advantage of the shadows and hide behind the curtains, but don't think about the thousands of thousands that are sleeping. I contend that there is ten times as much meanness going on during the day as at night. The thief becomes bold and sleeps at night just as the honest man becomes drowsy and sleeps. Every man who steals, it matters not whether it be an ounce of sugar or a pound of gold, is a thief, and the big thief is entitled to no more respect or consideration than the little thief. At night the chicken thief and the burglar may be abroad in the land, but the scoundrel who "peats" you—just "beats" you in weights and measures and by smooth manipulations, usually "pulls in," ticks himself in bed and dreams. The night is pretty and inspiring; it could not be otherwise with millions of stars above the earth.

Garland Cunningham stuck a tack in his heel a few nights ago while walking the floor with the baby. He complained in a very fierce manner, and said tacks ought to be homemade "all heads."

I have some startling facts which will be given to the public in the next few weeks. I would print them now, but cannot get the Governor to send the State Militia to Springfield at this time. The Gatting guns, I am informed, are out of fix and he wants to get them out of fix again. Therefore he sends the troops here to protect me. The story, which will be printed as soon as the Gatting guns are put in order, deals with the "Old Maid Matrimonial Club" of Lebanon. I have a stenographic report of the proceedings of a recent meeting, and it has in it some very startling disclosures. Among other things is a speech delivered by an old mate of Lebanon, in which a Springfield bachelor is unmercifully flayed. I never heard such applause in all of my life. One old maid shouted: "Glory hal-le-lujah! Give the libertine his dues!" "Pepper him!" shouted another. They scared me so badly that two of my tail feathers turned gray. This meeting was perfectly awful. One old lady said she didn't approve of such carrying on, and they made it so hot for her that she had to escape through an open window.

A full report will be given as soon as the Gatting guns are put in good shooting order and shipped to Springfield with a regiment of soldiers.

For the Farmer.

Four factors are concerned in the making of good timber: heat, moisture, the presence of acetic acid and a maintained temperature in the room from 70 degrees to 85 degrees. Now as to the method of handling during the period of making: Fill the barrel with water, earthen or glass—never oil or iron, copper or tin—not more than half full of cedar stock that has been fermented at least one month. Add one-fourth its volume of old vinegar, and a little "mother of vinegar," which should be taken in a wooden spoon and gently stirred over the surface of the cedar. Do not stir it in, as the vinegar ferment grows only on the surface. Do not disturb the cap which should spread over the entire surface in three days. If the temperature is right, the fermentation should be completed in from four to six weeks. Then draw off, strained through thick funnel and corked or bunged tightly and kept in a cool place until wanted for consumption. Should the vinegar remain turbid after ten days, stir into a barrel one pint of a solution of a half pound isinglass and one ounce of store wine, as soon as settled cork off and store in tight vessels. The sharper the vinegar is needed, the sharper it will be.

The sharper the vinegar is needed, the sharper it will be. The vinegar is the free-spirit of the farm. The swineherd may be forced to eat it, but the farmer, who would be victimized, will freely use the mats, reasoning he would be victimized. "Regular as the Sun" is an expression as old as the race. No doubt the rising and setting of the sun is the most regular performance in the universe, unless it is the action of the liver and bowels when regulated with Dr. King's New Life Pills. Guaranteed by Haydon & Robertson, druggists.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

strued Cicero over a table originally a lack of speakers on the negative and designed, it is thought, for a ten-cent after a vote it was decided to have the principal speak in place of the four who were absent from that side. Much eloquence in the praise of music was indulged in, and many jokes sprung over and over. President Lyman Barber gave his decision in favour of the affirmative. Students are wondering how many zeros he will receive next week.

W. W. Waters, accompanied by Miss Sue Ray, sang a solo, also given by Miss Hayes and Ray and Mr. Waters. The society had a number of "jingers" at this meeting. We were also honoured by a visit from Miss Alice McElroy and Miss Stella Simms.

Robbing Yourself

That is just what you are doing when you fail to get regular and sufficient sleep. Your body requires this unconscious period for repair work; without it your nerve energy becomes exhausted, and you are tired, worn-out, nervous, excitable; have headache, neuralgia, indigestion, poor appetite, or other ailments caused by a lack of nerve force. Make it your business to sleep. If you are restless, take Dr. Miles' Nervine; it soothes and strengthens the nerves, and brings sweet, refreshing, life-giving sleep, and gives the organs power to work naturally. Try it to-day.

Miss Willie Cassell Hughes, of Bloomfield, has entered school, and is staying with her aunt, Mrs. W. W. Ray. Miss Hughes is a bright and popular young lady, and pupils and teachers welcome her as an addition to our school crowd.

A debate was held last Friday afternoon, in Prof. Colvin's room by members of the literary and debating society on the subject, "Resolved that Vocal Music should be a required part of a graded school course." There was

STATEMENT OF THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.

The Anti-Saloon campaign in Kentucky in 1906 is the marvel of America. In the last five and a half months of the year, 26 counties were added to the dry list, making a total of 95 dry counties in the State. It is the day dawn of a new Kentucky. The following table is most significant, and is worthy of preservation for reference. Note the population and territory affected.

NOTE.—In Jessamine, Mercer, Pulaski, and Lewis counties, elections were held only in Nicholasville, Harrodsburg, Elkhorn, Limestone, Corbin, Jellico, Russellville, Somerset, Greenup, Flemington, Vanceburg, Marion, Beattyville and many others.

By such victories the Kentucky Anti-Saloon League has proven its right to the support of every friend of Temperance in the State. Great victories have been won, but tremendous conflicts are ahead of us.

C. L. COLLINS,
Dist. Supt.
Bowling Green, Ky., January, 1907.

In addition to the above, we have won several previous elections?

Among the important towns and cities voted dry are Springfield, Morganfield, Stanford, Cadiz, Elizabethtown, Versailles, Carlisle, Hawes-ville, Nicholasville, Harrodsburg, Elkhorn, Limestone, Corbin, Jellico, Russellville, Somerset, Greenup, Flemington, Vanceburg, Marion, Beattyville and many others.

By such victories the Kentucky Anti-Saloon League has proven its right to the support of every friend of Temperance in the State. Great victories have been won, but tremendous conflicts are ahead of us.

C. L. COLLINS,

Dist. Supt.

Bowling Green, Ky., January, 1907.

The new desk that Prof. Colvin has looked for three years, and Prof. Thompson, for a number of years, arrived last week. With them about thirty or forty school desks. The teacher's desks are excellent, being much better than the old teacher's desks. The other teachers are said to be quite jealous of the two senior Professors, but it is our opinion that it is all a mistake for there is certainly small reason for them to be so.

For two years Prof. Thompson has used a kitchen table and the principal has continued Cicero over a table originally a lack of speakers on the negative and designed, it is thought, for a ten-cent lunch counter. A mere application of the law of compensation will show that after so many trips to the depot and after so many times asking the question of Mr. Allen as to whether any teacher's desks had been heard of, only to be answered in the negative, after all this, when they really did come, they ought to be good ones. We will leave the matter to the consideration of our readers.

We were also honoured by a visit from Miss Alice McElroy and Miss Stella Simms.

Before another week shall have passed, the memorable twenty-second of February shall have also passed and with it our entertainment and contest as well. Just what we will do at the contest is as much a matter of speculation to the writer of these lines as to you, for we are in complete ignorance of the state of preparation made by the principal and the young ladies and the boys, but from all that we can hear, and we have pretty good ears, the entertainment will be one of the best that has been given at the meetings given by our school. The Saxon Glee Club will furnish the music, and there will be several good musical features.

Preparations are very active, indeed, for the primary tournament that will be held the first Friday in March, at the school building. There are entries from nearly all the rooms and the contest is all but overshadowing the entertainment of the twenty-second, in the mind of some of the aspirants. Preparations are forward on the final tournament to be held in May. A letter was received by the principal the other day from the Owenton Grade School, promising a large delegation. We are expecting a large representation from all the schools, and there will doubtless be five to eight hundred people in town.

Miss Willie Cassell Hughes, of Bloomfield, has entered school, and is staying with her aunt, Mrs. W. W. Ray. Miss Hughes is a bright and popular young lady, and pupils and teachers welcome her as an addition to our school crowd.

The new desk that Prof. Colvin has looked for three years, and Prof. Thompson, for a number of years, arrived last week. With them about thirty or forty school desks. The teacher's desks are excellent, being much better than the old teacher's desks. The other teachers are said to be quite jealous of the two senior Professors, but it is our opinion that it is all a mistake for there is certainly small reason for them to be so.

For two years Prof. Thompson has used a kitchen table and the principal has continued Cicero over a table originally a lack of speakers on the negative and designed, it is thought, for a ten-cent lunch counter. A mere application of the law of compensation will show that after so many trips to the depot and after so many times asking the question of Mr. Allen as to whether any teacher's desks had been heard of, only to be answered in the negative, after all this, when they really did come, they ought to be good ones. We will leave the matter to the consideration of our readers.

We were also honoured by a visit from Miss Alice McElroy and Miss Stella Simms.

Before another week shall have passed, the memorable twenty-second of February shall have also passed and with it our entertainment and contest as well. Just what we will do at the contests is as much a matter of speculation to the writer of these lines as to you, for we are in complete ignorance of the state of preparation made by the principal and the young ladies and the boys, but from all that we can hear, and we have pretty good ears, the entertainment will be one of the best that has been given at the meetings given by our school. The Saxon Glee Club will furnish the music, and there will be several good musical features.

BY M. D. L. COCANOUGHER.

While going through the fields other day we picked up a flint arrow head, as we have often done before. When we find one of these little relics we are prone to wonder and ask ourselves questions like these: "By whom, when and where were they made?" It is thought by many that the Indians made them, but they know nothing of the origin or manufacture. After centuries of study and research it has been proven, beyond a doubt, that they, with other stone weapons such as spear points, axes, tomahawks, flesh-knives and other relics, were made by a race that preceded the red man, probably two thousand years or more. The Indians have a tradition that the former were exterminated in a great battle near Louisville, Ky. In many places in our State, but especially near the eastern border of Breathitt county, is a ridge known as Flint Ridge, which gets its name from the numerous beds of flint which crown its summits its entire length and a road that has been worn deep by the travel of centuries, is still plain to be seen. Under overhanging cliffs may still be seen vast quantities of flint chips, stone anvils, hammers, etc., with which these ancient aborigines wrought their weapons of the chase and war. From the vast quantities that were made in the various parts of the State and the great numbers that have been plowed up in the fields ever since the State was settled, tell us much about these ancient people. Each of these little relics has a history that would be interesting to know; they could tell us of the origin and end of a nation that were skilled manufacturers, that hunted, fought and passed away, and of whom we yet know so little. It remains for some future Historian to delve into the hidden mysteries of the past and bring to light the origin, life and destiny of the strange people that are called "mound builders."

I wonder if our farmers, especially those who over rolling land, think seriously of the vast amount of damage moles do? So far as our observation goes there is scarcely any effort put forth to check or destroy these little animals, but instead they are permitted to root right on down the hill sides and cause washes that are often hard to stop, to say nothing about the destruction of tobacco and hog beds, gardens, corn and grass fields. For a number of years we have tried to exterminate these pests from our premises, and have succeeded to such an extent that their work is mostly confined to the outskirts and line fences of the farm. Most every farm has one or more boys, and boys love to trap, so we would urge farmers to buy from two to six mole traps, according to the size of the farm, and put their boys to work, and he will find he has made a paying investment.

Probably our country was never more prosperous than now. My father once said that financial prosperity was a dangerous thing; and that but few could stand it, and after years of observation I am satisfied he was right. If this is true of an individual it is also true of a community, state or nation. There is danger of prosperity leading to three evils, namely: extravagance, pride and oppression. We are the most favored people on earth, yet there are many dying in our land every year from starvation, yet starving, in the sight of plenty. So we believe we should pray that we should be saved, not from prosperity, but from that evil that may come as a result of prosperity, lest we fall into temptation.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by Haydon & Robertson, Druggists. 80c.
